

Big Savings on Jimmy Choo, Off White and Balmain this Christmas in the Harrods.com Sale

The marquee London store is – like all proper retailers – making a statement this Christmas with a quite magical winter sale. Whether you're breezing into London for some on-site must-have or browsing online, Harrods remains a one-stop-shop for all those who take fashion seriously.

Harrods' motto is, "All things for all people everywhere." It really couldn't be any clearer - get browsing now for essential items in this winter's sale.

Chloe Small Tess Saddle Bag

Chloe has mastered the art of Parisian chic; this tanned delight has all the functionality that you expect with a saddle bag – light and small enough to wrap over your waist; small enough to double as a makeshift clutch. While others may pitch for larger statement items, the word at New York Fashion Week this Fall (for Chloe and other luxury brands) was that smaller is smarter. As with all of Chloe's collection, French sophistication is relaxed and unpretentious; fit for all your Christmas outings, so go ahead and bag yourself a little saddle bag!

Rick Owens x Veja Vegan Leather Sneakers

Winner of Drapers Sports Fashion Brand of the Year for 2018, Veja is making confident strides into the hyper-competitive sports shoe market, thanks to its clean design and a commitment to sustainability. A collaboration with hyper-futurist Rick Owens pairs the sneaker brand's lean approach to the couture label's rugged minimalism, whilst also leading the conversation where it matters right now: away from fast-fashion hyperbole, towards taking care of the planet. Get your running shoes on and make a dash for these super cool treads at Harrods.com.

Needle & Thread Scarlet Sequin Midi Dress

Do not be misled by the mildly vintage aura of their full length embroidered pieces, the British brand's fusion of design excellence with a contemporary edge can be stunningly forward thinking, but still the perfect festive accompaniment. Sequins always radiate glamour, and while the usual romantic Needle & Thread traits are present - complementary silhouette, pleated skirt section - that ensure this dress is suitable for many occasions, you'll still look stunning at the New Year's Eve Ball. But the clock is ticking, so hurry up and make your move now.

Off White Distressed Denim Shorts

Or go for something completely different. Virgil Abloh has developed his brainchild, Off White into a perfect (sometimes startling) mashup of streetwear and couture to spearhead the mid-to-high-end athleisure revolution. Runway shows run the whole gauntlet from sporty to conceptual, so if you think shorts aren't high fashion, check the Spring 2019 Ready to Wear Collection. Shop Harrods.com now for the whole stunning Off White range.

Jimmy Choo Michigan Sneakers

Talking streetwear-meets-couture, it's hard to find a more fully realized example of the form than Jimmy Choo's hybrid masterpieces. Admittedly, you'd be tempted to keep these boxed for the museum, but they're cool because you can go casual or high profile in them, or – as with Jimmy teal coloured velvet sandals – cruise into Christmas via first class via Harrods.com.

Balmain Sequin Embroidered Mini Dress

Balmain make the kind of clothes (and especially dresses) that (in the best possible sense), partly own you. Olivier Rousteing has channelled the Balmain spirit of architectural symbiosis into pieces that reveal beauty as the only worthy goal. Balmain's couture pieces can be pretty potent, but there is probably no better little black dress around. You're likely to feel completely enfolded by the Balmain mystique, but everyone else will be spellbound too. It's the only serious choice you need to make this Christmas. Make it a good one!

Adidas by Stella McCartney – Warp Cut Out Top

One of the challenges of athleisure is the frequent compromise you need to make between style and functionality. While couture brands frequently push the style envelope, the likes of Outdoor Voices and PE Nation opt for strong prints and more conventional designs you can work-out in. Adidas' collaboration with Stella McCartney generally follows the latter school of thought, but its cut out top makes the kind of statement your gym-toned body is begging for.

Sandro Check Trench Coat

You can't seriously hit London high streets in rainy December without a proper trench coat. While Burberry may have a lockdown on the standard tan trench, turn to French outfit Sandro for the finer French approach. Sandro's look is understated élan courtesy of muted prints, luxurious fabrics and ubiquitous checks. It might rain this season, but that shouldn't stop you looking and feeling the part. Discounts on other Sandro items mean you can look chic whatever the weather.

Head to Harrods

So there we have it – beautiful items to ensure you're never out of options this Christmas, and ideas to stimulate the senses of even the most ardent style buyer.
